

A large grid of circular markers is arranged across the bottom half of the page. Each marker is either a white circle with a green outline or a white circle with a green outline containing a black line drawing of a flower. The markers are organized into a grid that roughly follows the cardinal directions indicated by the labels. At the bottom center of the grid, there are three circular markers, each containing a detailed illustration of a wasp, representing the starting point of the activity.

A large circular grid of 100 white circles with green borders, arranged in a spiral pattern. The circles are used for a beekeeping activity. Some circles contain a drawing of a bumblebee, while others are empty. The grid is centered around a wooden beehive illustration at the top. The background of the entire page is a photograph of purple flowers and green foliage.
